Prayer Letter of John Starke

February 2012

Remembering my Father

February is usually a month that people associate with ground hogs and Valentines. On February 16th, 2011 my father went to his eternal home and this is the first anniversary of his passing.

My father loved mathematics and it's a toss up as to who influenced whom in our mutual interest in computers. My dad was a county librarian and actually wrote computer programs since there were none at the time to help him in his work.

I was able to spend this past Christmas with my mom and family. I have been calling my mom much more (since I'm threatened with bodily injury from the only mom on our staff if I don't).

Please keep my mom in your thoughts and prayers as I know it will be a hard day for her. I was blessed to have a father who loved the Lord and who walked in a manner worthy of his calling. My parents' favorite Bible verse was Luke 1:74-75: "that He would grant unto us, that we might serve Him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before Him all the days of our lives."
