

The Staff of ETS

Keith Jones oversees the ministry of Equipping the Saints. He regularly purchases items at auctions and book shows, interviews countless ministry leaders and attends mission leadership conferences and churches to promote this work.

Earl Wilbers spends much of his time repairing and troubleshooting copiers and printers. Earl is also regularly called on to help with the heavy lifting that is such a part of our work. Whether its boxes of clothing or hospital beds, Earl usually gets the call. He and his wife Shirley also have a personal ministry with the deaf. Check out their web site at www.deafministriesconnection.wordpress.com.

John Starke manages the data base and coordinates computer functions within the office. He also records the inventory, as well as, overseeing our growing lamp and literature sales. John includes a Gospel tract in every lamp order he ships out. He also manages our new website which includes a shopping cart containing our books, lamps, and some of the other many items that we have available. Click here to see John's Journals.

Charlie and Kathy Bennetch serve as Project Coordinator and Volunteer Coordinator. Charlie is an ordained minister and has expertise in repairing electronics and business machines. Kathy is an RN, organizes our medical donations and does all our publications. See their web site at www.charlieandkathy.blogspot.com

The Volunteers of ETS

Jim Hoff has set up computer labs for ministries in Siberia, Zambia, and El Salvador among others. His "Computers Without Borders" ministry is available to all evangelical groups. Jim's missions' passion and computer skills are now serving us at Equipping the Saints.
